SPECIAL VISITORS;
the attention of The Commissioners first directed to the consideration of so much of the 12th section of the Act of the 58° Geo. III. cap. 91. as relates to Special Visitors, Governors and Overseers, in order to ascertain how far their powers of inquiry were limited thereby, i. 3.
adopting the rule of construction, which has been applied to a similar provision, in the Statute of Charitable Uses of the 43° Eliz. cap. 4., they were of opinion, that this clause does not extend to such Special Visitors, Governors and Overseers, as have themselves the administration of any Funds belonging to Charitable Institutions for the purposes of Education, i. 3.
upon this construction they have acted in the course of their proceedings, — and, where they have met with Charitable Foundations, provided with Special Visitors or Governors thus circumstanced, they have thought it proper to pursue their inquiries concerning them, i. 3.

TRUSTEES, v. CHARITABLE FUNDS; we think it our duty to observe, that the irregularity which frequently occurs in filling up the places of deceased trustees is productive of great inconvenience, the management of Charitable Funds being in many instances, by this omission, thrown into the hands of persons who are invested with no legal authority, iii. 4.
in the case of the small charities, the formal appointment of new Trustees, by regular instruments, is often prevented by the want of funds to defray the expense, iii. 4.
it seems, therefore, highly desirable that some easier and less expensive mode should be devised of perpetuating such trusts, iii. 4.
